Luth-AR Team Members Shine at Superstition Mountain Mystery 3-Gun Championship

Buffalo, MN – Luth-AR, a leading name in the firearms industry, proudly announces exceptional results achieved by its team members at the recent Superstition Mountain Mystery 3-Gun Championship. The competition, renowned for its rigorous challenges and high-level competition, saw Luth-AR team members excel across various categories.

Randy Luth demonstrated exemplary skill and determination, securing the impressive 2nd place in the Open Division Super Senior category. His consistent performance and expertise underscored his status as a formidable competitor in the field.

Kerry Dematos demonstrated exceptional skill, clinching the coveted 1st place in the Stealth 2-Gun Super Senior category. Dematos' dedication to precision and excellence propelled him to the top, showcasing the effectiveness of Luth-AR equipment in demanding competitions.

In the Stealth 2-Gun Law Enforcement category, John Mouret exhibited outstanding talent, claiming 2nd place. Mouret's tactical abilities and strategic approach highlighted the effectiveness of Luth-AR products in meeting the rigorous demands of competition.

Scott McGregor's steady performance in the Heavy Metal 3-Gun category earned him a distinguished 3rd place. McGregor's skill and determination exemplified the superior quality and reliability of Luth-AR products in challenging shooting environments.

"We are immensely proud of our team members' exceptional achievements at the Superstition Mountain Mystery 3-Gun Championship," said Randy Luth, CDM of Luth-AR. "Their outstanding performances underscore our commitment to delivering high-quality products that empower shooters to excel in competitive environments. We are truly gratified by the number of competitors using Luth-AR products and congratulate all participants for their commendable performances."
